1 Landfill, and in East Millinocket, known as the Dolby Landfill, collectively referred to in 2 this section as "the landfills," to reduce the concentration of perfluoroalkyl and 3 polyfluoroalkyl substances in the leachate. In conducting the study under this section, the 4 bureau shall:

5 1. Consider treatment technologies other than dilution that are available or under development and that could be designed and installed on site at the landfills or at an off-6 site treatment facility to reduce perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances in the 7 8 leachate to no more than the interim drinking water standard established pursuant to 9 Resolve 2021, chapter 82. If treatment to that standard is determined by the bureau to not be feasible based on available treatment technologies, the bureau may, with input from the 10 Department of Environmental Protection, consider options to reduce perfluoroalkyl and 11 polyfluoroalkyl substances in the leachate to a different standard; 12

2. Evaluate the feasibility of, a reasonable time frame for and the anticipated associated costs to the State or to the operators of the landfills, as the case may be, of developing the capacity and necessary facilities to treat the leachate on site at the landfills or, alternatively, to transport the leachate to an off-site facility for treatment;

3. Seek input from interested parties that, in the bureau's determination, are directly affected by the current discharge into the environment of wastewater containing leachate collected at the landfills and, as necessary, consult with the Department of Environmental Protection and the operators of the landfills; and

4. As necessary, contract with individuals or businesses with expertise in landfill or wastewater treatment facility engineering and design, wastewater or leachate treatment technologies or other relevant backgrounds or experience.

As used in this section, "perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances" has the same meaning as in the Maine Revised Statutes, Title 32, section 1732, subsection 5-A.

26 Sec. 2. Department of Administrative and Financial Services, Bureau of General Services; report. perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances in the leachate. In conducting that study, 1 the bureau is required to seek input from interested parties that, in the bureau's 2 determination, are directly affected by the current discharge into the environment of 3 wastewater containing leachate collected at the landfills and, as necessary, consult with the 4 Department of Environmental Protection and the operators of the landfills. In conducting 5 the study, the bureau may as necessary contract with individuals or businesses with 6 expertise in landfill or wastewater treatment facility engineering and design, wastewater or 7 leachate treatment technologies or other relevant backgrounds or experience. 8 9 The amendment requires the bureau, on or before January 15, 2023, to submit to the 10 joint standing committee of the Legislature having jurisdiction over environment and 11 natural resources matters a report containing its findings and recommendations, including 12 any suggested legislation, resulting from its study. After receiving the report, the joint 13 standing committee may report out legislation to implement any such recommendations to 14 the 131st Legislature.
