35 6. Self-storage facility. "Self-storage facility" means any real property or facility in

40                    (4) Benefits of the coverage;

41            D. Summarize the process for filing a claim; and

1           E. State that the customer may cancel enrollment for coverage under a self-storage
2           insurance policy at any time and the person paying the premium must receive a refund
3           of any applicable unearned premium.

4           2. Periodic basis of coverage. Self-storage insurance may be offered on a month-to-5           month or other periodic basis as a group or master commercial inland marine policy issued 6           to a self-storage provider under which individual customers may elect to enroll for 7           coverage.

8           3. Eligibility and underwriting standards. Eligibility and underwriting standards
9           for customers that elect to enroll in self-storage insurance must be established by an insurer 10           for each self-storage insurance program.

12           1. Requirements for employees and authorized representatives of self-storage
13           providers. An employee or authorized representative of a self-storage provider may sell 14           or offer self-storage insurance to a customer and is not subject to licensure as an insurance 15           producer under this chapter if:

16           A. The self-storage provider obtains a limited lines license to authorize its employees 17           or authorized representatives to sell or offer self-storage insurance pursuant to this 18           section;

19           B. The insurer issuing the self-storage insurance either directly supervises or appoints 20           a supervising entity to supervise the administration of the sale of insurance, including 21           development of a training program for employees and authorized representatives of the 22           self-storage providers.

23                   (1) The training must be delivered to all employees and authorized representatives 24                   of the self-storage provider who are directly engaged in the activity of selling or 25                   offering self-storage insurance. The training may be provided in electronic form.
26                   If the training is conducted in electronic form, the supervising entity shall 27                   implement a supplemental education program that is conducted and overseen by 28                   licensed employees of the supervising entity to supplement the electronic training.

29                   (2) Each employee and authorized representative must receive basic instruction

31                   under section 7503, subsection 1; and

32           C. The employee or authorized representative of the self-storage provider does not 34           as other than a nonlimited lines licensed insurance producer.

35           2. Charges. The charges for self-storage insurance coverage may be billed and 36           collected by the self-storage provider. Any charge to the customer for coverage that is not 37           included in the cost associated with the rental or lease of self-storage or related services
38           must be separately itemized on the customer's bill. If the self-storage insurance coverage
39           is included with the rental or lease of self-storage or related services, the self-storage
40           provider shall clearly and conspicuously disclose to the customer that the self-storage
41           insurance coverage is included with the rented or leased storage space. A self-storage
42           provider billing and collecting charges for coverage is not required to maintain those funds 43           in a segregated account as long as the self-storage provider is authorized by the insurer to 44           hold such funds in an alternative manner and remits the funds to the supervising entity

1 within 60 days of receipt. All funds received by a self-storage provider from a customer
2 for the sale of self-storage insurance are considered funds held in trust by the self-storage
3 provider in a fiduciary capacity for the benefit of the insurer. A self-storage provider may 4 receive compensation for billing and collection services.
