

127th MAINE LEGISLATURE

FIRST REGULAR SESSION-2015

Legislative Document

No. 974

H.P. 671

House of Representatives, March 18, 2015

An Act To Provide Compensation to a Corrections Officer Injured by a Patient or Prisoner

Reference to the Committee on Criminal Justice and Public Safety suggested and ordered printed.

Clerk

R(+ B. Hunt

Presented by Representative TUCKER of Brunswick. Cosponsored by Senator BREEN of Cumberland and Representatives: BATES of Westbrook, DION of Portland, FARNSWORTH of Portland, HOBBINS of Saco, KINNEY of Limington, MARTIN of Eagle Lake, Senators: PATRICK of Oxford, VALENTINO of York.

2. Supplemental benefit. A corrections officer who, while in the performance of duty, suffers bodily injury resulting from acts of a patient or prisoner in the custody of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works and as a result of the injury is entitled to benefits under Title 39-A is entitled to a supplemental benefit in the amount of the difference between the weekly cash benefits to which the corrections officer is entitled under Title 39-A and the corrections officer's regular salary. 3. Not chargeable against sick leave. Any absence from work resulting from the injury described in subsection 2 may not be charged against available sick leave credits. SUMMARY This bill provides for a supplemental benefit paid to a corrections officer who is injured by the acts of a patient or prisoner of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works if the injury qualifies the corrections officer for workers' compensation benefits. The amount of the supplemental benefit is the difference between the corrections officer's workers' compensation benefits and the corrections officer's regular salary. In addition, the work time the corrections officer misses is not	1	Be it enacted by the People of the State of Maine as follows:
BENEFITS FOR CORRECTIONS OFFICERS CHAPTER 551 SUPPLEMENTAL BENEFITS S4501. Supplemental benefit for corrections officer 1. Corrections officer. "Corrections officer." as used in this chapter, has the same meaning as set forth in section 2801-A, subsection 2. 2. Supplemental benefit. A corrections officer who, while in the performance of duty, suffers bodily injury resulting from acts of a patient or prisoner in the custody of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works and as a result of the injury is entitled to benefits under Title 39-A is entitled to a supplemental benefit in the amount of the difference between the weekly cash benefits to which the corrections officer is entitled under Title 39-A and the corrections officer's regular salary. 3. Not chargeable against sick leave. Any absence from work resulting from the injury described in subsection 2 may not be charged against available sick leave credits. SUMMARY This bill provides for a supplemental benefit paid to a corrections officer who is injured by the acts of a patient or prisoner of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works if the injury qualifies the corrections officer for workers' compensation benefits is the difference between the corrections officer's workers' compensation benefits and the corrections officer's regular salary. In addition, the work time the corrections officer misses is not	2	Sec. 1. 25 MRSA Pt. 12 is enacted to read:
SUPPLEMENTAL BENEFITS S4501. Supplemental benefit for corrections officer 1. Corrections officer. "Corrections officer," as used in this chapter, has the same meaning as set forth in section 2801-A, subsection 2. 2. Supplemental benefit. A corrections officer who, while in the performance of duty, suffers bodily injury resulting from acts of a patient or prisoner in the custody of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works and as a result of the injury is entitled to benefits under Title 39-A is entitled to a supplemental benefit in the amount of the difference between the weekly cash benefits to which the corrections officer is entitled under Title 39-A and the corrections officer's regular salary. 3. Not chargeable against sick leave. Any absence from work resulting from the injury described in subsection 2 may not be charged against available sick leave credits. SUMMARY This bill provides for a supplemental benefit paid to a corrections officer who is injured by the acts of a patient or prisoner of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works if the injury qualifies the corrections officer for workers' compensation benefits. The amount of the supplemental benefit is the difference between the corrections officer's workers' compensation benefits and the corrections officer's regular salary. In addition, the work time the corrections officer misses is not	3	PART 12
$4501. Supplemental benefit for corrections officer 1. Corrections officer. "Corrections officer," as used in this chapter, has the same meaning as set forth in section 2801-A, subsection 2. 2. Supplemental benefit. A corrections officer who, while in the performance of duty, suffers bodily injury resulting from acts of a patient or prisoner in the custody of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works and as a result of the injury is entitled to benefits under Title 39-A is entitled to a supplemental benefit in the amount of the difference between the weekly cash benefits to which the corrections officer is entitled under Title 39-A and the corrections officer's regular salary. 3. Not chargeable against sick leave. Any absence from work resulting from the injury described in subsection 2 may not be charged against available sick leave credits. SUMMARY This bill provides for a supplemental benefit paid to a corrections officer who is injured by the acts of a patient or prisoner of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works if the injury qualifies the corrections officer works if the injury qualifies the corrections officer workers' compensation benefits. The amount of the supplemental benefit is the difference between the corrections officer's workers' compensation benefits and the corrections officer's regular salary. In addition, the work time the corrections officer misses is not	4	BENEFITS FOR CORRECTIONS OFFICERS
1. Corrections officer. "Corrections officer," as used in this chapter, has the same meaning as set forth in section 2801-A, subsection 2. 2. Supplemental benefit. A corrections officer who, while in the performance of duty, suffers bodily injury resulting from acts of a patient or prisoner in the custody of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works and as a result of the injury is entitled to benefits under Title 39-A is entitled to a supplemental benefit in the amount of the difference between the weekly cash benefits to which the corrections officer is entitled under Title 39-A and the corrections officer's regular salary. 3. Not chargeable against sick leave. Any absence from work resulting from the injury described in subsection 2 may not be charged against available sick leave credits. SUMMARY This bill provides for a supplemental benefit paid to a corrections officer who is injured by the acts of a patient or prisoner of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works if the injury qualifies the corrections officer for workers' compensation benefits. The amount of the supplemental benefit is the difference between the corrections officer's workers' compensation benefits and the corrections officer's regular salary. In addition, the work time the corrections officer misses is not	5	CHAPTER 551
1. Corrections officer. "Corrections officer," as used in this chapter, has the same meaning as set forth in section 2801-A, subsection 2. 2. Supplemental benefit. A corrections officer who, while in the performance of duty, suffers bodily injury resulting from acts of a patient or prisoner in the custody of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works and as a result of the injury is entitled to benefits under Title 39-A is entitled to a supplemental benefit in the amount of the difference between the weekly cash benefits to which the corrections officer is entitled under Title 39-A and the corrections officer's regular salary. 3. Not chargeable against sick leave. Any absence from work resulting from the injury described in subsection 2 may not be charged against available sick leave credits. SUMMARY This bill provides for a supplemental benefit paid to a corrections officer who is injured by the acts of a patient or prisoner of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works if the injury qualifies the corrections officer for workers' compensation benefits. The amount of the supplemental benefit is the difference between the corrections officer's workers' compensation benefits and the corrections officer's regular salary. In addition, the work time the corrections officer misses is not	6	SUPPLEMENTAL BENEFITS
2. Supplemental benefit. A corrections officer who, while in the performance of duty, suffers bodily injury resulting from acts of a patient or prisoner in the custody of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works and as a result of the injury is entitled to benefits under Title 39-A is entitled to a supplemental benefit in the amount of the difference between the weekly cash benefits to which the corrections officer is entitled under Title 39-A and the corrections officer's regular salary. 3. Not chargeable against sick leave. Any absence from work resulting from the injury described in subsection 2 may not be charged against available sick leave credits. SUMMARY This bill provides for a supplemental benefit paid to a corrections officer who is injured by the acts of a patient or prisoner of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works if the injury qualifies the corrections officer for workers' compensation benefits. The amount of the supplemental benefit is the difference between the corrections officer's workers' compensation benefits and the corrections officer's regular salary. In addition, the work time the corrections officer misses is not	7	§4501. Supplemental benefit for corrections officer
duty, suffers bodily injury resulting from acts of a patient or prisoner in the custody of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works and as a result of the injury is entitled to benefits under Title 39-A is entitled to a supplemental benefit in the amount of the difference between the weekly cash benefits to which the corrections officer is entitled under Title 39-A and the corrections officer's regular salary. 3. Not chargeable against sick leave. Any absence from work resulting from the injury described in subsection 2 may not be charged against available sick leave credits. SUMMARY This bill provides for a supplemental benefit paid to a corrections officer who is injured by the acts of a patient or prisoner of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works if the injury qualifies the corrections officer for workers' compensation benefits. The amount of the supplemental benefit is the difference between the corrections officer's workers' compensation benefits and the corrections officer's regular salary. In addition, the work time the corrections officer misses is not		1. Corrections officer. "Corrections officer," as used in this chapter, has the same meaning as set forth in section 2801-A, subsection 2.
SUMMARY This bill provides for a supplemental benefit paid to a corrections officer who is injured by the acts of a patient or prisoner of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works if the injury qualifies the corrections officer for workers' compensation benefits. The amount of the supplemental benefit is the difference between the corrections officer's workers' compensation benefits and the corrections officer's regular salary. In addition, the work time the corrections officer misses is not	11 12 13 14	2. Supplemental benefit. A corrections officer who, while in the performance of duty, suffers bodily injury resulting from acts of a patient or prisoner in the custody of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works and as a result of the injury is entitled to benefits under Title 39-A is entitled to a supplemental benefit in the amount of the difference between the weekly cash benefits to which the corrections officer is entitled under Title 39-A and the corrections officer's regular salary.
This bill provides for a supplemental benefit paid to a corrections officer who is injured by the acts of a patient or prisoner of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works if the injury qualifies the corrections officer for workers' compensation benefits. The amount of the supplemental benefit is the difference between the corrections officer's workers' compensation benefits and the corrections officer's regular salary. In addition, the work time the corrections officer misses is not		3. Not chargeable against sick leave. Any absence from work resulting from the injury described in subsection 2 may not be charged against available sick leave credits.
injured by the acts of a patient or prisoner of the jail, prison or state correctional facility where the corrections officer works if the injury qualifies the corrections officer for workers' compensation benefits. The amount of the supplemental benefit is the difference between the corrections officer's workers' compensation benefits and the corrections officer's regular salary. In addition, the work time the corrections officer misses is not	18	SUMMARY
where the corrections officer works if the injury qualifies the corrections officer for workers' compensation benefits. The amount of the supplemental benefit is the difference between the corrections officer's workers' compensation benefits and the corrections officer's regular salary. In addition, the work time the corrections officer misses is not		This bill provides for a supplemental benefit paid to a corrections officer who is injured by the acts of a patient or prisoner of the init prison or state correctional facility.
	21 22 23	where the corrections officer works if the injury qualifies the corrections officer for workers' compensation benefits. The amount of the supplemental benefit is the difference between the corrections officer's workers' compensation benefits and the corrections officer's regular salary. In addition, the work time the corrections officer misses is not chargeable against available sick leave credits.