

Craig Priestly
Freeport
LD 51

All kids living in the United States have the right to a free public education as the Constitution requires that all kids be given equal educational opportunity no matter their race, ethnic background or religion. To restore the religious and philosophical exemptions to immunization requirements in the state of Maine would restore this American right.