

Amy Hodsdob
Oxford
LD 1719

There are not enough SUT beds in the State of Maine. We have clients seeking help at our office every day and we have to turn them away because our waiting lists are too long and there are not beds available for them to detox and get immediate treatment. Maine is very far behind other states in the amount of beds available to combat the opioid epidemic.