I support the decriminalizing of
Psilocybin in Maine for medical & recreational use.

I am in support of its benefits in low-dose format for the treatment of depression, PTSD, etc.... I also believe that in higher doses, if one chooses to use psilocybin, it is also very effective for these conditions & that therapists should be able to do sessions with patients & prescribe it in a safe environment.

The current testing of neuron re-growth with low dosage psilocybin as proved effective by Paul Stammitz in mice, shows potential for Neuron degenerative reformation, which is applied to ALS, Dementia, and Parkinson's' Is what I would particularly like to see pursued in all clinical phases.

I believe that legalization only makes a substance become more transparent & creates less crime around it based on what I've witnessed in other countries that adopt this principle and then also Maine should tax the items for sale & make revenue.

As I stand as a Maine resident, I see no reason why a mushroom could be illegal at all and support the decriminalizing of psilocybin immediately.

Sincerely
Jason Goodman, Rockland Maine
