

Roberta Manter
Fayette
LD 780

It has often been said that one person's right to swing their fist stops short of another person's nose. Yes, a woman should have the right to choose what is done with her own body, but the body growing inside her is not her own. Her child may have different eye color, hair color, skin color, gender etc. because that child has his or her own DNA. Abortion ends a life. Both the Maine and U.S Constitutions recognize an inherent right to life. There is no inherent right to take the life of another innocent person.