

Scott Hoyt
Rockland
LD 2007

The Wabanaki Nations have been stewards and advocates for wildlife and habitat here for more than ten thousand years. I am writing in support for Wabanaki self-determination as both a step toward acknowledgement and reparation of the occupation and seizure of Wabanaki ancestral homelands and an important opportunity to help bolster health, educational, and economic outcomes; foster careful stewardship of the land; and renew partnership among neighbors.