

Mandy Morrish
Portland
LD 2007

As these lands continue to be stewarded by the tribes, today is another opportunity to bring ourselves into deeper alignment with one another by acknowledging and affirming tribal sovereignty. In doing so, we can take steps toward a future bright enough for all of us, big and small, to live into.

To ask for the tribal elders to wait any longer is unacceptable, and we know this in our hearts.