

Susan Downes-Borko
Rangeley
LD 2007

The Wabanaki Nations in Maine have a different, more restrictive status than all 570 other federally-recognized tribes in the United States. This legislation will help address this unfair and inequitable situation for our Wabanaki neighbors. Our first people's deserve an opportunity for self determination.