LD 2007

This comment is to express my full support of LD 2007. When I learned the results of a Harvard study of tribes in the United States I was very disturbed by the serious disadvantages the Maine tribes have suffered by not having access to the same rights as other tribes. I have been proud to live in this state but the enforced limits imposed on the Wabanaki people has made me ashamed of my state. The tribes' lack of access to economic advantages that would greatly improve the lives of people in their communities and give prospects of better education and economic success and a better future for the tribe's children has convinced me that passage of LD 2007 is absolutely essential. I see it as a moral issue.
