

Peter Morgan
Raymond
LD 2086

If more guns in society made us safer, the United States would be a haven for its citizens, families and youth. The results of compiled data (limited by "gun rights advocates) show we experience more gun violence than similar countries. In an effort to reduce the prevalence of the threat, confiscated and surrendered firearms should not be returned to public interactions.

Firearms and accessories designed to shoot rounds mechanically (at a rate to compound tissue damage) and ammunition capacity allowing continuous firing should be restricted.

*

2018 Veterans For Peace - Position Statement

This is the holistic view of gun violence that Veterans For Peace wants to share with all those who share a sense of urgency that something must be done. Yes, military assault weapons should be banned. High capacity ammo magazines too. Thorough background checks should be required of all those wishing to purchase firearms, without exceptions. Those are obvious common-sense steps that are being demanded by the March For Our Lives. We must work to support these young folks and others who have been engaged to continue getting to the root of the epidemic of violence.

https://www.veteransforpeace.org/files/3415/9976/7320/2018_Position_StatementsComplete_9.10.20.pdf

LD 2086 ought to pass