I believe that implementing mandatory driver's license suspension for refusing testing for drugs or a combination of drugs and alcohol is a necessary and effective measure to ensure road safety.

Driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol poses a serious threat to not only the driver themselves, but to everyone else on the road. By refusing to undergo testing for substances that impair driving abilities, individuals are putting themselves and others at risk.

Mandatory license suspension serves as a strong deterrent, sending a clear message that driving under the influence will not be tolerated. It also allows for appropriate consequences to be enforced upon those who choose to ignore the law.

Overall, I fully support the implementation of mandatory driver's license suspension for refusing testing for drugs or alcohol. It is a proactive step towards promoting responsible and safe driving behaviors, and ultimately, protecting the lives of all road users.
