I am in favor of the solar tax being repealed. Our energy costs are skyrocketing, while our paychecks are not (especially with the new PFML tax that is also now being taken out of our paychecks -- but that's a matter for another day). This "public policy" extra charge being tacked onto every electric bill is ridiculous, and is just adding to the outrageous cost of living in the State of Maine. What makes matters worse is the fact that this tax coming out of Mainer's pockets is then going to out-of-state companies, to fill their coffers, while we end up poorer, and with unsightly solar arrays in former farm fields and woods, adding to the disintegration of what makes (or used to make) Maine Vacationland. The bottom line is that Mainers cannot afford this tax (along with so many others), and it should be repealed. We should not have to make a choice not to buy food or medicine, just so we can make sure we have enough money to pay the electric bill, which is high enough without this added tax. Please take this unnecessary burden off our plates.
