

Kylee Francis-Fowler
Penobscot Nation, Indian island
LD 514

As we continue to battle Addiction in our State and the nation detox beds are a MUST. Every single person deserves the help when the time comes. If the person is on a wait list it could potentially be a death sentence. The substances on the streets now are deadly. As a person in recovery I know this disease all too well. It's cunning baffling and powerful but it is treatable. If you have never had to deal with this disease I envy you. A detox facility saved my life and I know so many others who are here now helping another person through their own recovery journey because of a detox facility. Please don't cut their life short.