

Mariana Tupper
Falmouth
LD 1073

Mining is messy business; therefore we need to have an excellent plan in place to protect Maine people.

The dangers are legendary. Top among these is toxic runoff that pollutes waterways. Extractive industries are famous for impacting both wildlife and humans. This bill would promote responsible practices.

Let's set a precedent for respectful, transparent communications. Communities need to see that best practices will be followed for protecting their health and that of the land around them.