As someone who was born and raised in Maine and moved back to this beautiful state of ours I am simply appalled by these frivolous laws that will only serve to make Mainers into felons over items they've owned for years without issue. These laws do nothing to prevent violence and only put people at risk of losing their freedom over security theater. However my biggest fear is how the passing of these laws will cause Maine to turn red and the very few protections for minorities from federal overreach will disappear as Mainers vote in republicans do to having to either destroy their own personal property or become a felon over night if these laws pass. These laws and regulations are not the hill to die on and should be discarded at once for the benefit of the people of Maine.
