I am so proud of the legislature that has been enacted to protect Maine's natural and environmental beauty and the health of the citizens of Maine. Much of this is by restricting the use of plastics and waste. Most of us are now unfortunately familiar with the presence of microplastics even to the point of them being present in our bodies and those of our children. Let's do everything we can to keep plastics limited and legislated. I am a midwife, a public health servant, and a proud ambassador of Maine wherever I travel to, within and outside of our country..

We are voicing our citizens's concerns, putting our promises into action.
Thank you!
