

David Payne
Cumberland
LD 998

If an individual is legally permitted to possess a firearm, then securely storing it in a locked vehicle should not result in the removal of their rights simply for parking in a parking lot. Having the firearm in your vehicle has no effect on the employers rights. It would be no different than if a visitor to the employer had a firearm in their vehicle. Many folks in this state hunt before and after work we don't want to take that away. This should pass committee