Please do not abridge the rights of Maine residents to have their firearm available in their vehicle for protection before and after working hours and during commute time prior to working hours and after working hours. Our rights in Maine to bear firearms shall not be questioned let alone overly controlled. If an employer chooses to make it a condition of employment to disallow weapons in their buildings located in their place of business, that is their right but they must not infringe on an employee's right to self defense as they travel to and from their job.
