I am testifying against an attempt to eliminate critical health care for women. Abortion care is lifesaving care for women who have already had tubal ligations or who are already miscarrying. Maine is already losing labor and delivery departments, for women who need an abortion any requirement that makes it more difficult to access abortion is a death sentence for Maine women. Numerous women have died or experienced life altering health complications from lack of abortion care in other states and Maine has a duty to protect all of its citizens, including women who need an abortion.
