As a parent of two children currently attending the Maine School of Science and Mathematics (MSSM), I want to express my deep gratitude for this incredible school and the state funding that makes it accessible to families like mine. MSSM has been a life-changing opportunity for my children, helping them to grow, thrive, and blossom both academically and personally.

My daughter, who has long dreamed of becoming an author, is now taking real steps toward that dream, thanks to the nurturing and inspiring environment at MSSM. My son has found his place in the VEX Robotics Team and the Chess Club, while also being challenged and supported in his academics. Both of them are developing strong social relationships in the dorm setting, learning independence, responsibility, and essential life skills that will prepare them well for college and beyond.

MSSM is more than a school—it is a community that invests in the future generation. The dorm environment, the academic rigor, and the extracurricular opportunities together create a unique space where students grow into their full potential. I believe continued state funding for the boarding program is not only necessary but a wise investment in Maine's future.

Thank you to the State of Maine, the school leadership, and everyone who makes MSSM possible. You are making a lasting difference in the lives of our children and in the future of our communities.
