

Cecelia Corey
Hartland
LD 1034

My name is Cecelia Corey. I'm a USAF veteran, a mother, and a grandmother raising a grandchild with my husband in Central Maine. I have a history of Complex PTSD from a dysfunctional family, MST, and most recently the loss of my only child in a murder-suicide in 2019.

Psychedelic therapy saved my life last year. I was dealing with severe depression and anxiety along with extreme PTSD symptoms, which were not responding to conventional therapy or medications. In my desperation, I sought help through the veteran community and was given the life-saving benefits of psilocybin in two treatments.

I ask you to please pass this legislation so people desperate for healing can do so without becoming criminals. I thank you for your time and attention.
