I believe having chiropractors be able to work on dogs and equines would be a step up in being able to offer good care for our animals. Chiropractic keeps the immune system active and helps with movement. We adopted a dog with torn crucett ligaments. We found a chiropractor nearby and with the help of his care we were able to avoid surgery. It would be very helpful if chiropractors could adjust our animals. Sometimes the wait is months to get an animal chiropractor now.
