Hello. I strongly believe that these types of laws will. it reduce gun violence and will simply cause more division in our state. I would strongly argue that all it would take to reduce gun violence would be to completely overhaul how background checks are conducted and require yearly training and mental health checks for gun owners. From my experience talking to people in my life both progressive and conservative almost everyone i talk to agrees that better background checks are required. These bills regulating what kind of guns law abiding citizens can purchase are completely counterproductive and distract from the real problem.
