

Karen Eger
South Berwick
LD 958

This act restores Wabanaki sovereign rights that other indigenous nations have had for years, promotes collaboration, independence and is the just and right thing to do for Maine's tribes.

The long and regrettable history of seizure of native lands by municipal, state and federal governments for centuries in this country should be reverse in Maine as it has been for tribes in other areas of the country.

Time to right the wrongs and sovereignty over land is the most meaningful way to do it.