Conflating antisemitism with criticism of the state of Israel is a lie. You are creating a narrative as a political weapon for your own agenda and convenience. There is no state which is above criticism or that even has any right to exist. States are political machines of legal administration, not a people. The Zionist Entity is a racist, apartheid machine of death and destruction, working mutually for its own and American imperialist aims of foreign policy. You might recognize this as "national" or "defensive" or "economic interests". Supporting the IHRA definition of antisemitism which conflates criticism of a genocidal supremacist state is a sure sign of your politics and being. Clearly you are pro-genocide, pro-war, and pro-death and destruction of innocent black and brown people in the periphery when it both a) doesn't affect you negatively, and b) serves your interests positively. I'm unsurprised because the state of Maine is a settler-colonial state as well, built off the same, albeit slower violence.
