

andrew hoglund
Thorndike
LD 1140

Farms have been and will be, with global warming removing highly used areas of the country and world from production, something we should support.