I will suggest some things for people to think about with this bill. If they do give access towns should have the clammer or fishermen they granted excess to have a permit placed in their windshield with all their information. That would take care of people that don't have permission to keep people out that don't belong there. Plus clambers should have to sign something so it doesn't hold the land owner liable if a person trips and falls hurting themselves. Different things come into play when they think giving permission on to someone's land.
