

Caroline Chinlund
Brunswick
LD 1474

Please consider a positive vote for LD 1474. With good lessons, all children in Maine schools will strengthen our pride and greater understanding of the history of indigenous people here from the earliest times. To reconfigure a social studies curriculum, so that teachers will be comfortable and confident with it, requires supportive and encouraging training programs and supervision. If these are provided, as passage of LD 1474 will do, we'll be fully launched into a new era of proficiency in claiming our tribes of the Wabanaki as the partners they truly are.

Thank you for your attention and concern,
Caroline Chinlund, a teacher and clinical psychologist