Senator Curry Representative Gere and housing board members. I support bill 1765 and see similarities to bill 1723. The big difference I see is in oversight. 1765 says towns do it. 1723 say Manufactured housing Board. I think towns doing oversight is not the correct approach. There are so many different forms of town government such as city manager, city council, selectmen, etc. It will lead to various ways of doing things and causing a legal nightmare where methods of oversight will be used against each other to prove points. The best solution is one method for all oversight to be done with one standard. That puts the the Manufactured housing board front and center but like I said. Just my opinion
