

Investors

The BoaVida Group offers individual investors an opportunity to acquire real estate assets in the sectors of mobile home communities and recreational vehicle resorts and campgrounds. We strive to bring the good life to both our investors and those who call our fantastic communities home by operating under four guiding principles; Integrity, Respect, Accountability, and Relationships.

Our business model focuses on leasing the land in our communities to residents who place mobile homes, cottages, cabins, or RVs either permanently or on a long- or short-term basis. This model creates low maintenance costs and low customer turnover. The properties attract families, retirees, vacationers, and working professionals while providing a low cost of homeownership.

Mobile Home Communities

Today's residents seek two things delivered by communities: lifestyle offerings and affordable living. The properties cater to a mix of baby boomers and families in urban and rural areas. The high cost of homeownership provides a significant tailwind for populating the properties.

The manufactured home sector is one of the smartest real estate asset investments on the market due to its strong appreciation and excellent resilience even in a down economy coupled with the significant tax advantages and strong cash flow.

These are two documents from the BoaVida website that encourages investors to invest in their funds. Good investment for them and their investors, very bad for the residents of their parks. Please help control these out of state investors from displacing low income family's and senior citizens from their hmes.
