

Phil Coupe
Scarborough
LD 1870

60+ years ago oil companies' internal research illuminated the fact that combusting oil and gas at vast scales over time would cause greenhouse gases to saturate the atmosphere and would pollute land, air and water to the detriment of humanity. Their models/forecasts from decades ago have turned out to be accurate and they should pay for the damage caused (and for ongoing harms to people and the environment we all depend upon for life).