Thank you for the opportunity to express my unvarnished thoughts in favor of creating a Climate Superfund. Bluntly, the fossil fuel industry has intentionally misled the public about the "harmlessness" of fossil fuels for decades, and done everything they can to make ordinary folks feel responsible for the damage these fuels have caused after misleading them. They have lied about what sound science has known since 1896, and the worldwide ramifications are endangering tens of millions of lives.

We can't bury our heads in the sand about this problem. Over the coming decades, we now have to tackle the very challenging work of saving what we can of the world we once loved, while our food supply, our temperate climate, and our health all deteriorate due to the harm the extraction of fossil fuels have caused.

If ever there was good reason to make the polluters pay, this industry's greedy behavior is it.
