Good morning...as our communities in Maine face more consequences as a result of pollution from oil and gas companies, and as results from these same companies exasperate climate change, it is only reasonable to expect these companies to pay their fair share for damages resulting from their exploitative practices. It is well know that they are reaping huge profits. Some of these profits should be legislated to fund necessary support for communities and individuals which might be directly affected by disasters related to/caused by these corporations. And more importantly, to increase funds for Maine to take preventive/proactive measures to help develop projects that might prevent disasters from happening.
