This seems like a bad dream. Has anyone died from smoking maines medical cannabis that we know? This comes across as a money making scheme #1 because it is and #2 because there seems to be no merit for it. Maine med is tracked with trip tickets and transaction logs. Testing in AU is unreliable and most people are starting to remediate before testing (because its standards are so absurd). This bill would turn maines medical cannabis market from one of the best in the country (attracting out of state patients from all over the east coast) to a complete laughing stock, likely pushing all the small craft growers into the black market. This is an extreme stance especially considering how our med market has been governed on its way to becoming so popular and successful. You have an opportunity to lead the country with common sense med rules and this would be the opposite of that. Please do not vote for this bill.
