As a medical patient and part of this beautiful community, I vehemently oppose the proposed regulations calling for increased and excessive testing, needless track-and-trace requirements, and unrealistic potency limits across all cannabis products.

Changes like those proposed in LD 104 would considerably increase waste, raise costs for producers and patients, drastically reduce access, and unfairly put our small local producers further at risk. Maine is no stranger to seeing local manufacturing leave, and we are all familiar with what comes next: increased prices for lower quality goods.

The current system works. It gives patients safe and affordable access to medicine cultivated by people they know and trust. From their fiends and neighbors who have dedicated their life to leaning how to best cultivate clean medicine. Many in their regenerative farms, on land they've grown on for decades +. For this reason, Maine is known for having one of the absolute best true medical programs in the entire country. Please don't let overregulation destroy something so good. Large corporations are the only benefactors of this bill.

Please, support sustainable. community-based cannabis and help us continue to lead the country what a small but educated community is capable of.
