Good morning,

My name is Jesse Power, I am a Massachusetts citizen, and a cannabis educator, activist, and consumer. I was born in 1971. And all my life I lived in fear like most people that this plant was BAD..... and I believed it. I went my whole life never trying it, until The plant actually found me on week night at a friends house. A bad headache that standard pain meds didn't help. Opened the door, to try cannabis as a remedy. Well, one hour later, my headache subsided, and I realized that this flower has been slandered for many, many, years. This discovery led me down a path to study the chemical compounds of the plant. And to educate people on how to use it. Besides me, My brother heavily relies on the plant for daily medicine, and actually loves the Maine medical program on what it offered people that he drives from Ma up to Maine to get his medicine.
