The only testimony i really have is this...

I didnt transition because i wanted to. I transitioned because I couldnt stop trying to take my own life. Ever since i started my transition over a decade ago, I have not once felt like taking my own life. Thats what gender affirming care does. And i say I have not once felt like taking my own life before my transition but I do have to admit there is an exception to that, and that is ever since this new administration took over and started this attack on trans people, this is the first time since before my transition that i have felt like taking my life again. Never have u experienced such hate and it makes me sick. Literally. I have panic attacks over it. Please just let trans people live their lives. Its all we are asking. We are all human beings and no one is free until we all are free. Thank You.
