

Cheryl Dykstra
Machias
LD 1378

Fortunately, our Founding Fathers wrote a living, breathing document that addressed human nature which has not changed and, most likely, will not change in our lifetime. As well-educated attorneys, scientists, innovators, farmers, etc., our Founding Fathers well understood technology would constantly evolve while human nature would remain stagnant.

This is quickly confirmed considering the same mob who chose life-long criminal Barabbas over the innocent Jesus, most recently chose life-long criminal George Floyd over an innocent cop as OD victim George Floyd's own autopsy amply proved.

This is why our Constitution is crystal clear on American citizens' inalienable rights, with the most important being the First and Second Amendments because they safeguard all of our other clearly stated rights.

Regarding arms, the Constitution does not merely grant American citizens the right to keep and bear arms but rather IT STRICTLY FORBIDS THE GOVERNMENT from interfering with that inalienable right. Anyone who doubts this should read the Constitution and/or take a Civics class, then review which nations (like Switzerland) and which States (like New Hampshire, Vermont, Idaho, and Maine prior to Democrats) have historically remained the safest from all crime. The common denominator of these safest places - according to long collected government statistics - is their unrestricted, universal concealed carry laws, and having the highest concentration of gun owners.

In other words: "An armed society is a polite society".

Furthermore, due to Democrats' self-defeating defund/demoralize/decimate the police movement in the U.S., and the government's obvious inability to stop their own political corruption, much less deport the millions of unvetted lawbreaking criminals, terrorists, and American-hating freeloaders the Biden Administration imported with our money, quick enough to restore order, it's obvious American citizens are now completely on their own.

Consequently, anyone looking to restrict Americans' Second Amendment rights under such circumstances is sentencing them to almost certain death by eliminating their most effective means of self-protection, as we've repeatedly witnessed as Democrats imported a Third World Voter Base at the literal expense of American taxpayers' well-being.

As a result, any official/s advocating confiscation for any reason aside from the proven commission of a crime, MUST immediately surrender any and all armed protective details for themselves because double standards are appalling and will not be tolerated by We, the People, who are ultimately in charge.

After all, history has effectively taught that one cannot trust a government that does not trust its own citizens with arms. For concrete proof of the horror that followed history's greatest gun-control advocates who disarmed their populations, look no further than Adolf Hitler, Fidel Castro, Joseph Stalin, Mao Tse-Tung, Idi Amin, Pol Pot, etc.

Bottom line, criminals have always had guns and will always have guns, therefore, the population MUST have the same to ensure they are not overrun and murdered by foreign criminals from enemy nations.

Lastly, any and all Orwellian accusations by inane snitches to confiscate a fellow American's arms is far too Hitleresque for any normal person to consider, much less take seriously. To that end, please duly note that Marxism will no longer be tolerated, so cease and desist or resign before we vote into oblivion all pathetic petty tyrants who would be king.

We've had enough. Live and let live. Be free or be gone.