Hello-

My name is Shohanna.

I am a Care Giver. I feel like having this career has allowed me to grow and change.

We need more care givers. I have a past myself but have gotten an opportunity to be a care giver. I love my job and found my purpose.

We need more caring people in the workplace and especially care givers are needed.

Some of the kindest and loving people are those who fought their way out of drug addiction and self harm in others ways.

If someone has changed their ways why cant they find their purpose and heal. Why can't they have opportunities others have who haven't gotten caught.
