I am the mother of a preK and grade 2 student at Edgecomb Eddy School. My children were introduced to iPads at school and get their only screen time during class. The more I read about the educational programs they use (e.g. Lexia, IXL) the more I worry there is no unbiased research backing their use. I am concerned to see increased use of technology in young grades in light of decreasing school performance. I suppose funding research into the use of tech in schools.
