I am writing in support of LD 2106. Over the last several months across the country, we have the federal government wage a campaign of fear in our communities. It's been heart breaking to see people afraid to go about their daily lives - going to school, work, church or buying food for their families.

If there are legitimate, legal reasons to remove someone from our community, then asking for a warrant isn't a high bar, especially when we're talking about public spaces where we are all meant to feel welcome and safe.
