LD 2106

Over the last several days, I've been seeing more and more frightening footage coming not just from Minnesota, someplace that feels so distant from my home in Westbrook, Maine, but from right outside my door. Down the street from where I live, at the mall around the corner, in places I do my shopping and run my errands, I'm seeing agents taking people off the streets despite general resistance, despite the lawful status of the people they attack. For a long time, there were places that were protected from this disruption, disturbance, and fear, but that's not true anymore. If the federal government doesn't care to keep places like schools and hospitals safe, then we need to make sure those protections are in place at a state level. LD2106 will help protect people in these vulnerable spaces that ought to be safe and undisturbed.
