

Sophia Fitz
Skowhegan
LD 2106

ICE has no reason to be in Maine and is out of control. ICE officers are untrained and unchecked. There have been reports from all over the country of detainees being untraceable after arrest, from their friends, family, and even for their social workers. That is simply globally unacceptable. At the bottom line, ICE is a liability, both in terms of national law and international relations. By allowing ICE to continue in our state, we are a laughing stock not only in our country, but to the rest of the world as well.

What is to stop anyone from buying a gun, a face mask, and a vest and parading around the streets in an unmarked car claiming they have the right to detain people? This is an extreme safety issue and needs to be reconciled immediately. Yet as we have seen from the actions of Homeland Security, enacting parameters that increase the levels of safety and security within and from ICE is not on the to-do list. Therefore, ICE needs to be removed from Maine immediately.

If we give masked, badgeless, untrained people the authority to drag people out of their cars, to go door to door demanding to see people's papers, and to shoot anyone who goes against their orders in the slightest, we are asking for anarchy in this country. And if there is no law and order in this country than there is no reason for government, and if there is no government, than you are out of a job.