We have lived on Pushaw Lake for more than 70 years and for these years we have been concerned about water quality and care of the land around it as we have observed the population around increase and become year round. This has created issues we have to address. We have been involved in water tested for over 25 years and becoming involved with invasive plant growth. This is necessary due to the increased stress on the lake. Although the people doing this work are volunteers there are involved costs. The water quality directly effects the value of the property surrounding the lake .
