I'm a landowner in the headwaters of the Androscoggin River in Rangeley Plantation. The Androscoggin flows for 178 miles from one side of Maine to the other, and the quality of the river's water impacts many stakeholders and communities along the way. This river, like the other major rivers in Maine, is a vital wildlife, cultural, recreational, and economic resource and must be protected. I'm strongly in favor of upgrading the classification of the river from Class C to Class B, and I urge you to support this change. Thank you.
