

Good morning distinguished men and women of the committee. My name is Jeffrey Glover and I'm one of the hundreds if not thousands of residents who will be displaced if this bill is allowed to pass. So today I come before you to pose a question. What is the price of a human life. I put forth this question because to simply put it. That is exactly what is at stake, human lives. Lives of countless men and women who depend on places such as recovery residences and residential programs. I know without a shadow of a doubt that programs such as rcom and it's sober living homes saved my life. And many more lives before me. I live in a loving, supportive environment that otherwise I wouldn't have if not for programs such as these and places they provide that I can call home. And I assure you that many other if not all the men and women who live in the sober homes feel exactly as I do. Our lives would be shattered if Bill LD 109 were to pass. And so I strongly appose such a bill. It will destroy so many lives including my own. So I leave you with the question I posed to you at the start of this message. What is the price for a human life.
