This message originates from outside the Maine Legislature.

I am appalled after reading this bill at the audacity of presenting such an anti-family, anti-parents rights bill. This bill needs to be killed immediately, LD227 will leave the state open to every kind of law suit where the taxpayers will be forced to pay out when they are decided against the state and they will. Medically and psychiatric studies have shown there are many minors have as they become adults regret these questionable surgical procedures which are irreversible. What a person does in adulthood is their choice, but, as a minor they are the responsibility of their parents, not the government, not the school system, or a guidance counselor.

As a life long citizen of Maine I am deeply offended by this unconstitutional over reach that if passed will affect my life in the cost of living and the offense of being forced to monetarily support what I consider immoral. It's not alright for the government to delve into family dynamics in a way that supports the trafficking of minors against the wishes of the family, and especially trafficking across state lines.

Sincerely
Stephen Littlefield
