

Public Hearing for LD227

Joanne Rand, Biddeford, Against.

When abortion became legal in Maine, I happened upon a newsletter that went out from one of our Senators which declared, "Love won out". The yardstick for love was set many years ago by a man who selflessly gave his life for all of mankind. So where is the selfless sacrifice in this abortion issue that would make this into an act of love? Did anyone die for these women or are they dying every time they have an abortion?

I think we can now see whether or not love actually won out in the transgender issue. Detransitioners are currently sharing their stories. After many botched surgeries they are left feeling betrayed, lied to, manipulated and abused. Many of these people are still in pain physically and emotionally as they lose hope that their dream of being a different gender is lost. And then their cry is why didn't people tell them the truth? Why didn't people love them enough to stop them before their lives were destroyed? It seems they were looking for a love that the Senator could not deliver. The question now is, did love really win out for these people? Certainly, the surgeon made his money and the pharmaceutical companies now have a permanent patient for hormone blockers. Did these people realize any benefit? Many have said "no".

In both these cases people have experienced destruction, not the love our Senator spoke of.

As the two ideas of love seemed so distant from each other, I began to wonder what makes people think destruction is love? This brought me to investigating some of the major mental health disorders that cause people to distort reality. I first learned about narcissism, then sociopathic disorder and the Psychopathic disorder. These all have some things in common like their fixation on themselves being the center of the universe, and their lack of empathy, compassion and mercy. They can say "I love you", but it doesn't mean the same as you think. They actually use words to manipulate, it's only a tool to get you to do what they want. These are not curable. We used to think mental health issues were out there, but after what I have learned and seeing all the destructive bills coming out, I can tell you these destructive personalities are in here. It's clear to me that anyone who willfully creates a law to destroy people fits somewhere on this list of disorders. Willfully destroying people's lives and calling it love might be considered Psychopathic behavior. As far as I'm concerned, these people need therapy for a mental illness, not radical intervention by cutting off their body parts. This is just wicked by any standards. So, I declare the wicked will be judged and destroyed; they will no longer be found among us and there will be justice for these poor people who now are caught between one gender and the other.

What are signs of a narcissist?

From sources across the web

- | | | | |
|--|---|-------------------------------------|---|
| Lack of empathy | ▼ | Sense of entitlement | ▼ |
| Need for excessive admiration | ▼ | Interpersonally exploitive behavior | ▼ |
| Arrogant and haughty behavior | ▼ | Grandiose fantasies | ▼ |
| Arrogance | ▼ | Inability to empathize | ▼ |
| Difficulty handling criticism | ▼ | Taking advantage of others | ▼ |
| Jealousy | ▼ | Manipulative | ▼ |
| Intimate relationship | ▼ | Abuse | ▼ |
| Charming | ▼ | Craving admiration | ▼ |
| Envy | ▼ | Expecting special treatment | ▼ |
| Exploiting others without guilt or sh... | ▼ | Extremely sensitive | ▼ |
| Feelings of emptiness | ▼ | High sensitivity to criticism | ▼ |
| Passive aggression | ▼ | Personal appearance | ▼ |

Sociopathy Traits

- Lack of empathy for others.
- Impulsive behavior.
- Attempting to control others with threats or aggression.
- Using intelligence, charm, or charisma to manipulate others.
- Not learning from mistakes or punishment.
- Lying for personal gain.
- Showing a tendency toward physical violence and fights.

Signs that you are a psychopath

From sources across the web

- | | | | |
|---------------------------------------|---|--|---|
| Impulsivity | ▼ | Zero empathy | ▼ |
| Pathological lying | ▼ | Lack of remorse | ▼ |
| Superficial charm and glib | ▼ | Grandiosity | ▼ |
| Manipulation | ▼ | Promiscuity | ▼ |
| Early behavior problems | ▼ | Irresponsibility | ▼ |
| Need for stimulation | ▼ | Poor behavioral controls | ▼ |
| Shallow affect | ▼ | Act without thinking of the consequ... | ▼ |
| General disregard toward safety an... | ▼ | How is psychopathy diagnosed? | ▼ |
| Inability to accept responsibility | ▼ | Lack of goals | ▼ |
| Many marital relationships | ▼ | Narcissism | ▼ |
| Parasitic lifestyle | ▼ | Aggressiveness | ▼ |
| Criminal versatility | ▼ | Dominance | ▼ |